Weekly Newsletter

Friday 28th March

We believe that all of our students have the opportunity to thrive in our inclusive, nurturing and inspiring environment where they will grow into creative and confident learners without limits.

Dear Parents and Carers,

A huge thank you to all of the parents who attended our Parent Consultation Meetings this week. Discussing your child's academic progress is such an important part of school life, and we hope you found the face-to-face appointments useful and informative.

A reminder that today, you will receive your child's termly report via email. These reports were developed in line with parent feedback, ensuring they provide valuable insights into your child's learning and progress.

Next week marks the final week of term, and we can't believe how quickly it has passed!

We are looking forward to another fantastic week full of learning as we wrap up this term's work and look ahead to next term. Please ensure your child continues to read every day at home as the benefits of this are enormous and we have a brilliant library to make use of.

To all of our families that will be celebrating, we wish you a happy and blessed Eid! May this special time be filled with joy, peace, and togetherness.

Have a great weekend.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Colin Moore
