Weekly Newsletter

Friday 7th November

We believe that all of our students have the opportunity to thrive in our inclusive, nurturing and inspiring environment where they will grow into creative and confident learners without limits.

Dear Parents and Carers,

It has been brilliant welcoming all of the students back this week after the half term break. We hope that everyone managed to have an enjoyable and restful time with family and friends. This half term is always a busy and exciting one, with so much happening across the school as we move towards the end of the calendar year.

A reminder that all information about what your child is being taught can be found on our school website under the Learning tab, and more detailed information for each subject can be found under the Curriculum tab.

Today, our school community came together to mark Remembrance, supporting the students in understanding why this is such an important event and time of year. A huge thank you to Rev. Johnson and Simon Jackson for joining us and helping to make it such a special and meaningful assembly for our students. We have now shared all the dates for the Christmas shows and performances taking place in December, and we can't wait to welcome you all to celebrate with us.

Yours sincerely,
Mr Colin Moore

Our current value is RESILIENCE.

Anti-Bullying Week

Next week at Ramsey Manor, we will be marking Anti-Bullying Week, an important opportunity to promote kindness, respect and inclusion across our school community. This week reminds us all of the importance of standing up against bullying and celebrating what makes each of us unique. On Monday, we'll be taking part in Odd Socks Day – a fun way to celebrate individuality and inclusion. This shows that it is great to be different and that kindness and acceptance help make our school a safe, happy and welcoming place for everyone.

A reminder that school will be closed to all students on Friday 28th November as it is a training day for staff.
